Producer Announces Many
Plays for Coming Season—
New 'Music Box Revue.'

Sam H. Harris yesterday had a few words to say about his theatrical plans for the coming season. With three substantial successes to his credit still running the manager is enthusiastic and optimistic. The Irving Berlin "Music Box Revue" is still at the height of its popularity. "Six Cylinder Love," with Ernest Truex, is within a few weeks of completing a solid year's run at the Harris, and "Captain Applejack," with Wallace Eddinger and Miss Mary Nash, in a day or so will reach its 250th performance at the Cort.

Mr. Harris and Irving Berlin have started work on the new "Music Box Revue," which will be produced October 1 under the stage direction of Hassard Short to succeed the present production. They promise an even more attractive entertainment.

Another musical production will be that in which the Duncan Sisters will appear as stars. Added interest given the presentation is that the play has been written, words and music, by the sisters themselves. Guy Bolton has assisted as a collaborator. Later another musical production will be staged in "Going Some," with book and lyrics by Otto Harbach and music by Louis A. Hirsh.

On July 17 in the Apollo Theater, Atlantic City, Mr. Harris will produce "It's a Boy," a comedy by William Anthony McGuire, author of "Six Cylinder Love," staged by Sam Forrest.

About September 15 a production will be made of Clare Kummer's new play, "Pomero's Past." Following this will be "The Nervous Wreck," written by Owen Davis, and "The Great Music" by Martin Brown. Still other original plays which Mr. Harris will produce are "Money," by Edith Ellis, and "The Vigil," by Daniel N. Rubin. Edward Locke, who wrote "Weary Wives," has supplied the producer with a new script called "In Love with Love," which will have an early production.

Mr. Harris has numerous contracts with foreign authors for plays. So far he has announced but a few. He will produce a successful play, now in Berlin, called, in English, "The Mysterious Story of Kappelmeier Kremer." It is by Bernhard and Bernau, and will be adapted for the American stage and produced in association with Selwyn & Co. Another important production will be "The Bear Car," written by Edward E. Rose, and "The Fool," a new play by Channing Pollock.

Two more plays on the list for production are "A Man Among Women," by Daniel Carson Goodman and Alan Brooks, and "The Prude's Fall," by Rudolph Besler and May Edginton. Mr. Harris will open his new playhouse in Chicago, the Sam H. Harris Theater, on Labor Day, with "Six Cylinder Love," and Ernest Truex.

CANTOR'S INJURY CLOSED PLAY.
Comedian Tells Why 'Make It Snappy' Run Ended.

Eddie Cantor, writing from his home in Mount Vernon, N. Y., says that only an injury to his knee prevented him continuing in "Make It Snappy" at the Winter Garden.

"Mr. Lee Shubert was very anxious to continue," says the comedian, "but it was a physical impossibility for me to comply with his repeated requests, for the reason that I had severely injured my knee during one of the performances, and the injury recurred on two subsequent occasions, making it extremely difficult for me to perform. My physician told me that if I wanted to be able to play all of next season I would have to give my knee a complete rest and some treatment, which was really the cause of the closing."

"I do not know that the difference matters much, so far as the reading public is concerned, but I wanted you at least to know the facts."

PLAY SCHOOLS OPENED.

The Play School Committee, of which Mrs. Fred M. Stein is chairman, announces the opening of the summer play schools' sixth season. These summer play schools were organized under the direction of the Federation of Child Study of 2 West Sixty-fourth street, Mrs. Howard S. Ganz president. For months the committee has been busy examining children and preparing programs. These schools take care of groups of under-nourished children during the summer, providing direct play, well-balanced meals, corrective work and outings. There will be nine schools this summer at Ethical Culture School, 33 Central Park West; Public School No. 4, Bronx; New York Infirmary for Women and Children, 321 East Fifteenth street; Greenwich House, 30 Barrow street; Emanuel Sisterhood, 18 East Eighth street; Belknap Hospital, special service department, 61 Jefferson street; Madison House, 216 Madison street; Hudson Guild, 34 West Twenty-seventh street, and Grosvenor House.

RUSSIAN THEATER MAN HELD.

Among the passengers who arrived yesterday on the George Washington was Michael Viazoff, director of the Kanerny Theater in Moscow, who is here for the first time to arrange for the production of a series of plays which gained success in Russia and in various other European countries. His wife, who accompanied him, is Mme. Skidan-Mirakaya, a well known Russian musical comedy singer, who may appear in America.

5,000 AT STADIUM CONCERT.

At last night's concert in the City College Stadium Henry Hadley, the conductor, offered an audience of 5,000 a program of popular classical selections, starting with Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance." Then followed the overture from "Oberon." Selections from the works of Mendelssohn, Grieg, Sibelius and Nivn formed the body of the night's offering, with the "Ride of the Valkyries" as a finale. Mr. Hadley is generous with encores, among which last night he gave again his new march, "The Stadium."

NOT THE ART CENTER, INC.

Ray Greenleaf, secretary of the Art Center, Inc., at 66 East Fifty-sixth street, said yesterday that articles recently appearing in the press and referring to the proposed building to be erected on Seventh avenue and Fifty-eighth street as the "Art Center" have resulted in some confusion. "It has been suggested several times by those who have seen the articles," he said, "that confusion might be avoided by using some designation for this project other than 'Art Center,' since we are known and incorporated under this name."

MARIE TEMPEST RETURNING A
BRIDE TO PLAY HERE AGAIN

John Golden Will Present
English Actress in 'The Serpent's Tooth.'

Miss Marie Tempest.

After several years' absence from New York, during which she has made a tour of the world, Miss Marie Tempest will arrive in New York to-day to make preparations to appear in a new play. Little news about the English comedienne has reached New York for a long time. Several months ago theatrical circles did hear that she had become the bride of her leading man for many years. Graham Browne, but there was no hint that she was coming back here to play.

However, very quietly John Golden arranged by cable several weeks ago to take Miss Tempest under his theatrical wing and found a play for her called "The Serpent's Tooth." She was then in South Africa. Since then she played in Australia and sailed from there on the Ventura for San Francisco. She will arrive from California at the Ambassador Hotel this morning.

Stage stars with whom Miss Tempest formerly was associated under the management of Charles Frohman have been asked to welcome her at Mrs. Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr.'s (Billie Burke) home, Hastings on Hudson, next Tuesday afternoon. Among those invited are Julia Marlowe, Maude Adams, Ethel Barrymore, William Gillette, John Drew, Henry Miller, Miss Blanche Bates, William Faversham, Otis Skinner, Miss Viola

Allen, Tom Wise, Joe Cawthorn, Miss Julia Sanderson, William Collier and Miss Hilda Spong.
